ABOUT

I practice inquiry-driven and project-based interdisciplinary teaching. I'm also a technophile and a master of language.

My own broad education and wide-ranging interests have made it natural and necessary to advocate for a dynamic learning approach that is entirely built on inquiry, innovative communication media, and subject-integrated critical thinking. I teach Humanities, Social Sciences, Outdoor Ed, and Programming.

Gandhi said "Be the change..." — Inquiry learning is the revolution I bring into the world.
